Performance and Risk Disclosure

Performance : The published performance represents past data. Past performance may not be a reliable guide to future performance. There is no guarantee that the same yields will be obtained in the future. The value and income of any of your investments may fluctuate with market conditions and may lose some or all its value. The fund may be affected by changes in currency exchange rates, which can have an adverse effect on the value or income of the fund.

Risk : The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 5 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. This product may be exposed to further risks that are not included in the Summary Risk Indicator, for example:

- Currency risk: where your reference currency differs from the currency of the share class, you will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depends on the exchange rate between the reference currency and your local currency.
- Financial derivatives risk: the leverage resulting from derivatives amplifies losses in certain market conditions.
- Sustainability risk: the risk arising from any environmental, social or governance events or conditions that, were they to occur, could cause a material negative impact on the value of the investment. Further information can be found in the prospectus. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

Glossary:

- Volatility : statistical measure of the dispersion of returns, measured from standard deviation, or a given security or market index. In most cases, the higher the volatility, the riskier the security.
- Drawdown : a drawdown is a peak-to-trough decline during a specific period for an investment. A drawdown measures the historical risk and it is usually quoted as the percentage between the peak and the subsequent trough.
- Beta : Beta is a measure of the volatility—or systematic risk—of a security or portfolio compared to the market as a whole. Stocks with betas higher than 1.0 can be interpreted as more volatile than the market or benchmark.
- Information Ratio : the information ratio is a measurement of portfolio returns beyond the returns of a benchmark, usually an index, compared to the volatility of those returns. The benchmark used is typically an index that represents the market. The tracking error identifies the level of consistency in which a portfolio "tracks" the performance of an index.
- Tracking error : tracking error is the divergence between the price behavior of a position or a portfolio and the price behavior of a benchmark. Tracking error is reported as a standard deviation percentage difference, which reports the difference between the return an investor receives and that of the benchmark they were attempting to imitate.
- Correlation : Correlation is a statistic that measures the degree to which two securities move in relation to each other. Correlations are used in advanced portfolio management, computed as the correlation coefficient, which has a value that must fall between -1.0 and +1.0.
